

California Proposition 65

California's Proposition 65 protects California consumers by requiring special warnings for products that contain chemicals known to the State of California to cause cancer, birth defects or other reproductive harm where those products would expose consumers to such chemicals above certain threshold levels.

Wall Industries believes that any substances found within its product do not present any cause for concern and the human exposure level is below risk thresholds:

WARNING: Some products may contain chemicals known to the State of California to cause cancer, birth defects or other reproductive harm.

WARNING: Products with exposed solder may contain lead, a chemical known to the State of California to cause birth defects and other reproductive harm. Please wash hands after handling.

Products that shows a warning label according to California Proposition 65 does not mean that the product itself is dangerous. California Proposition 65 is about the right of the citizens to be appropriately informed. www.P65Warnings.ca.gov

It is important to emphasize that California Proposition 65 does not prohibit the use of chemicals on the list which are considered dangerous for the human's health by the State of California, but it just enforces that the end-users have to be duly informed through some notice as directly specified on the regulation law. Then, the objective of California Proposition 65 is that the end-users have to be put in a position to consciously decide for themselves or not to undergo to chemicals which may be present are potentially harmful.
